RULES OF DRINKING 1. If you owe someone money, always pay them back in a bar. Preferably during happy hour. 2. Always toast before doing a shot. 3. Whoever buys the shot gets the first chance to offer a toast. 4. Change your toast at least once a month. 5. Buying someone a drink is five times better than a handshake. 6. Buying strange women a drink is still cool. Buying all her drinks is dumb. 7. Never borrow more than one cigarette from the same person in one night. 8. Do not make eye contact with the bartender if you do not want a drink. 9. Never, ever tell a bartender he made your drink too strong. 10. If you offer to buy a woman a drink and she refuses, she does not like you. 11. If you offer to buy a woman a drink and she accepts, she still might not like you. 12. If she buys you a drink, she like you. 13. If someone offers to buy you a drink, do not upgrade your liquor preference. 14. Always have a corkscrew in your house. 15. If you don't have a corkscrew, push the cork down into the bottle with a pen. 16 After your sixth drink, do not look at yourself in the mirror. It will shake your confidence. 17. If there is a dj you can request a song once per night. If he doesn't play it within half an hour, do not approach him again. If he does play it, do not approach him again. 18. Learn how to make a rose out of a bar napkin. You'll be surprised how well it works. 19. If you can't afford to tip, you can't afford to drink in a bar. Go to the liquor store. 20. If you owe someone 20 dollars or less, you may pay them back in beer. 21. Never complain about the quality or brand of a free drink. 22. The only thing that tastes better than free liquor is stolen liquor. 23. Learn to appreciate hangovers. If it was all good times, every jackass would be doing it. 24. Try one new drink each week. 25. If your the bars sole customer, you're obliged to make small talk with the bartender until he stops acknowledging you. Then your off the hook. The same goes for him. 26. Anyone on stage or behind a bar is fifty percent better looking. 27. A bar is a college not a nursery. If you spill a beer, clean it up. If you break a glass, wait for a staff member to clean it up, then blame it on someone else. 28. It's okay to drink alone. 29. If you do a shot, finish it. If you don't plan to finish it, don't accept it, 30. If you are broke and your friend is "sporting you" you must laugh at all his jokes and lay wingman when he makes his move. 31. If you are broke and your friend is "making sport of you" you may steal any drink he leaves unattended. 32. If you are trading rounds with a friend and he ask you if you're ready for another, always say yes. Once you fall out of sync you will end up buying more drinks than him. 33. If your going to hit on a member of the bar staff, make sure you tip well before and after, regardless of their response. 34. If there's ever any confusion, the fuller beer is yours. 35. The patrons at the local bar are your extended family, your fathers and mothers, your brothers and sisters, except you get to sleep with these sisters. And if you're really drunk, the mothers. 36. It's acceptable, traditional in fact, to disappear during a night of hard drinking, you will appear mysterious and your friends will understand. If they even notice. 37. Never argue your tab at the end of the night. Remember your hammered, and they're sober. It's akin to a precocious five-year old arguing the super-string theory with a physicist. 99.9% of the time you're wrong, and either way you're going to come off as a jackass. 38. If you hesitate more than three seconds after the bartender looks at you, you do not deserve a drink. 39. The greatest thing a drunkard can do is buy a round of drinks for a packed bar. 40. if you are 86'd, do not return for at least three months. To come back sooner makes it appear no other bar wants you. 41 Anyone with three or more drinks in his hands has the right of way. 42 There's nothing wrong with drinking before noon. Especially if you're supposed to be at work.
